Press Release

Do you have a story to tell? If you do—you need to write it down and find your audience!

We live God's Story in our lives every day and build a testimony to the glory of God. He walks beside us through the dark days of trial and trauma. He celebrates with us in the glorious light of deliverance and dreams realized to fulfill His purpose in our lives. When you write His Story through your story, you become a Pioneer with a pen and pave the way for others to learn of the goodness of the Lord and seek His Kingdom purposes for their lives.

At the Pageant Wagon Publishing Good News Christian Writers Workshop 2022: Pioneers with Pens, learn what it takes to develop your idea, first draft, or full manuscript into a published work via print book, e-book, magazine articles, blog posts, or other unique publication formats at this two-day workshop for novice and intermediate writers.

Kathryn Ross, author, Pageant Wagon Publishing independent publisher, and founder of the Good News Christian Writers Critique Group leads a teaching team of seven writers including Linda Slomin, Stacy Lee Flury, Nikki Zimmerman, Trish Weldon, Tabatha Scheffler, and Christine Strittmatter to encourage attendees in their writing and publishing goals.

Six inspiring, instructive, and interactive sessions are jam-packed with what the aspiring writer needs to explore their vision and goals, expand craft excellence, and perfect skillful storytelling. Networking, games, prizes, and manuscript critiques built around the Pioneer theme round out the event. Teaching sessions include:

- Session 1: Pioneers with Pens Mapping the Way
- Session 2: Pioneers with Pens Pave the Way
- Session 3: Pioneers Checklist—Nuts and Bolts of Vision and Goal Setting
- Session 4: Grammar Pitfalls Along the Way—Writing Techniques and Craft Excellence
- Session 5: Show, Don't Tell—HOW to Tell Your Epic Pioneer Story
